HURRICANE DORIAN: IMPACTS BELOW THE SURFACE

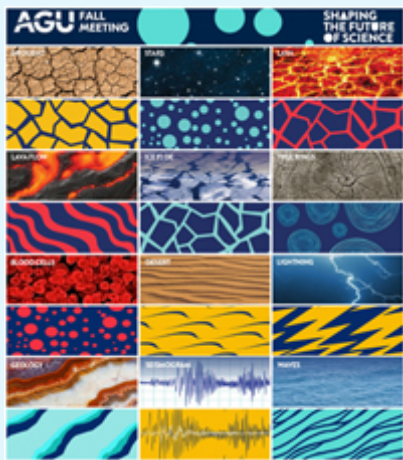

We've teamed up with South Florida PBS to take a 1 year look back at Hurricane Dorian and its impacts on the marine environment. Join us on September 30th at 6 PM EDT for a livestream panel discussion and Q&A with marine scientists studying the storm's impacts on coastal contaminants, seagrass, corals, fish, marine mammals and more. Audiences of all ages are welcome – RSVP TODAY!

OCEAN EXPERT EXCHANGE IS BACK!

We're excited for another awesome semester of live webinars with experts in marine science and tech! The fall lineup gets underway in October, so stay tuned to our OEE webpage for upcoming events and curated educational resources to help your students dive deeper into our featured ocean science topics. OEE is in collaboration with the Scientist in Every Florida School program.

JOIN THE CONVERSATION WITH AGU

Participate in the American Geophysical Union Fall Meeting to learn, collaborate and be inspired by scientists and educators from around the world. Registration is free for formal and informal K-12 educators, so check out this year's diverse earth and space science offerings and mark your calendar for this December!

EASILY FIND CONTENT ON OUR WEBSITE

It's now easier than ever to find the educational marine science content you're looking for on our website! Use the new filter tool in our Educator Resources Portal to sort by content type, topic and/or audience.

SPLASH BACK TO SUMMER 2020

In July, we were featured in the Thompson Earth Systems Institute Scientist in Every Florida School initiative's professional development program. We enjoyed sharing ocean science with teachers around Florida & working with them to develop lessons tied to our soon-to-be released Generation Ocean: Sharks 360 film!

DON'T MISS THE BOAT!

Beginning in 2021, our Seas the Semester and Summer newsletters will only be sent to educators registered on our website. Please REGISTER TODAY to
